

THE WILDLIFE EXPERIENCE

The Premiere

Art and the Animal represents the best of the best in wildlife art. For this reason, this exhibition was the focus of the inauguration of The Wildlife Experience in 2002. It is only appropriate that now, in celebration of our fifth anniversary, we are pleased to premier the Society of Animal Artists 47th annual exhibition.

Looking back over our first five years of growth, The Wildlife Experience has made significant changes to better meet our mission to instill respect for habitat and wildlife through educational, interactive and entertaining experiences. The museum has made a dramatic movement to more strongly appeal to families through immersive, interactive and ever-changing experiences.

We continue to pride ourselves on being a museum that uses a variety of media such as film, science, technology and fine art to tackle relevant topics. This variety is our strength as we tell the conservation story in a way unlike any other in the greater Denver region. Showcasing the creative vision of world-renown wildlife artists is an important component of our efforts to cultivate the next generation of leaders who value preserving the natural world.

On behalf of The Wildlife Experience board of directors, staff and members, I congratulate the Society of Animal Artists on its long-standing tradition of promoting outstanding quality and for generating concern for the conservation of species and their natural habitats. Together we seek to inspire a heightened awareness for the need to take care of this place we all call home.
