

DORCAS MAC CLINTOCK

Resides: Hamden, Connecticut
b. 1932, New York, USA

Owl II

Eastern screech owl
Bronze, 9.5 x 12 x 8
Edition of 5

A stand of hardwood trees beside an open meadow with stream or lake nearby is ideal Screech Owl habitat. With taloned feet, hooked beak, and extraordinary powers of hearing and seeing, this small predator of the twilight and night perches on a low branch, alert for moving forms and scuttling noises on the forest floor. Orienting its head so that the sound is equally intense in both its asymmetrically placed ears, the owl is ready to strike.